AN IDYL OF THE HT.

It is sunset at the HT ranch. Four or five cowboys sit gloomily about, outside the ranch house, awaiting supper. The Mexican cook has just begun his fragrant task, so a half hour must clapse before these Arabs are fed. Their ponies are turned into the wire pasture, their big Colorado saddles repose astride the low

Why are they gloomy? Not a boy of them can tell. One is from Princeton, too. They have been partners and companeros and "worked" the HT cattle together for months, and nothing ever came in misunderstanding or cloud. The ranch house is their home, and theirs has been the unity of brothers.

and it is evident that their riding is over

A week ago a pretty girl, the daughter of one of the owners, came to the ranch from the east. She was protected in this venture by an old and gnarled aunt, watchful as a ferret, sour as a lime. Not that the pretty girl needs watching; she is indeed in every move propriety's climax. No soft or dulcet reason woos her to the west; she comes on no love errand. She is elegantly and profoundly tired of the east, that is all, and longs for western air and western sights. She has been at the HT ranch a week, and the boys have met her, every one. The meeting or meetings were marked by awkwardness as to the boys, utter indifference as to the pretty girl. She met them as she met the ponies, cows, horned toads and other animals, domestic and indigenous to eastern New Mexico. While every cowboy was blushingly conscious of her, she was purely thought. Before this pretty girl came the boys were friends, and the calm tenor of their relations with each other had never a ripple. She was not there a day before each drew himself insensibly from the others, and a vague hostility shone dimly in their eyes. It was the instinct of the fighting male animal aroused by the presence of the pretty girl. She, however, proceeded on her daily way, sweetly unconscious of the sentiments she had awakened.

Men are mere animals; women are, too, for that matter, but they are very different animals from men. The effort the race makes to be the other, better or different than beasts fails. It always failed; it will always fail. Civilization-culture-is the variest veneer $55 AM | and famously thin. A year on the plains cracks this venere—this shell—and leaves the animal exposed. said Moore, "Fil step out and shoot with you right now. "Well, I'll shore go you." said Wat-

They arose and stepped out at the door It was gathering dark, but it was ligh enough to shoot by,

The other cowons followed in silence Not one said a word in comment or in perference. They were grave and serious, but passive. It is not good form to interfere with other prople's duels in the southwest. The pretty girl was still singing, and the strains fell softly on the sars of the cowboys. Every one, whether onlooker or principal, felt inspired with a lurking, pleased anticipation of the pale fence which surrounds the house, blood to be soon set flowing. Nothing was said of distance. They separated to about forty puces and turned to face each other. Each wore his "Colt's 45," the loosely buckled belt letting it rest low down on the right lop. Each threw down his big hat and stood at apparent sase, with his foumbs caught in the pis

"Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang!" went both pistols together, and with a rapidity not to be counted. Moore got a crease in his left shoulder-a mere wound to the flesh-and Watkins fell with a bullet in his side. Rawlins, the range boss, came running out. He understood all at a look. Hostily examining Moore he discovered that his hurt was nothing serious. The others carried

Watkins into the house. "Take my pony, saddled at the fence, Jack," said Rawlins, "and pull your freight. This yere man's goin' to die. "Which I shorely hopes he does," said Jack, bitterly. "I'll go, though: I ain't got no use for none of these yere heshorthorns around the HT." So he took Rawlins' pony, and when he stopped riding in the morning it was no marvel that the poor pony long his head dejectedly, while his flanks steamed and quivered. He was almost 100 miles from his last corn, and cooled his nervous muzzle as he took his morning drink in the Rio Pecos, a stream far to the west of the HT.

Rawlins to the pretty girl. "Isn't it horrible" shuddered the pretty girl, in reply.

The next morning the pretty girl and D' her guarled and twisted aunt paid the injured Watkins a visit. This sight so affected the other three cowboys that they at once saddled and rode away to the northwest to work some cattle on the Ocate Mesa. They intended to be gone three months. They looked black and forbidding as they galloped away. "It's a pity Jack Moore nin't no better Commencing Sunday, July 13,1600, the Missouri Porific railway will run through elegoing cars from 5t Legis via Pleasant Hul, Eleb Hill, Fort Scott and Wichita 6s timesees and from thence to Pueblo, Colo-rado Springs and Denver. This change was made on account of a great many peo-ple from the east going to Colorado being desirous of going via Wichita. The train will step here two hours, giving all a chance to view the "Perions Princess" and chance to view the Teerloop Princess and still land passengers in Colorado same-time as if they had gone via Kanasa City, it also gives the citizens of Wichita sleeping car service from here to Colorado. Betturning, it gives the trough sleeping car service Wichita tent Louis, and gives the Colorado people a chance to go east via Wichita. This change will undoubtedly be appreciated by the travelling public and especially by the citizens of Wichita. It you are going east or west go via the popular new through route. Through chair and sleeping car service. New most just completed between Fort scott and from Hill goes through the finest mineral and agricultural country in the west. Post forget the new short line to bit Louis or Colorado.
